

The Strategic Plan Steering Committee would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to everyone who participated in the campus listening sessions with Dr. Kaye Monk-Morgan on September 7. The turnout at the listening sessions was incredible and the ideas brought forth will be invaluable as we, as a campus community, shape our new Strategic Plan: Future State, in the months ahead.

As WVSU President Ericke Cage said at the the launch of the strategic planning process on August 11, in today's rapidly changing higher education landscape institutions must continue to excel and evolve to remain relevant. The creation by the state legislature of a new performance based funding model for higher education in West Virginia makes this all the more important.

Over the coming weeks you will be receiving additional communication from the Steering Committee asking for further input as we plan to survey various constituent groups. Your continued participation and feedback is vital and the committee will be in regular communication with you to provide additional updates as the process moves along

The Steering Committee is also launching a website, www.wvstateu.edu/futurestate where you can find regular updates about the work that is being done as well as links to resources and data that we gather. We look forward to your continued involvement in the strategic planning process as together we chart the course for West Virginia State University for years to come.
